Dedicated to . . .

Larry Mike Smith, aka Mike Smith

As a young man Mike always enjoyed hunting over and training his dogs but it was not until Mike joined the Sierra Nevada Retriever Club in the mid-80s, that a 35+ year commitment to our sport began.

Mike's relentless work ethic has made him a go-to guy for any task. Whether it was simply a training day or one of the countless weekend events, you can be certain that Mike will be out there throwing, shooting flyers, marshaling, being a stake chair, a field trial chairman, etc. This was most apparent at the national events! A west coast fixture Mike has been instrumental in numerous nationals. His experience and willingness to do whatever it takes help those events run smoothly. Mike became the west coast grounds guru, and in many ways, he set the standard for how that committee has come to function.

As a respected competitor and an accomplished judge, Mike was asked to judge the 2013 National Retriever Championship in Cheraw, South Carolina.

Mike not only put his efforts into our sport, but he also and more importantly served in the United States Air Force for over 10 years.

If you see Mike around this week, please thank him for his years of service both to our sport and our country.

Thank you to our Landowners!

Peter Goodale

Duck hunting is where it all began. Besides needing a shotgun, Peter immediately realized hunters also needed a retrieving dog. In 1976, Pepper, a black Labrador retriever, joined the family. Peter trained Pepper using Walter's Water Dog book and discovered a new joy in his life—training retrievers. Next came competing in picnic trials sponsored by WVRC. It was not long before Peter realized he needed training for himself. He wanted to be a good dog handler. Every Thursday, Peter drove the distance to Scappose, OR to train with Jerry Patopea, learning dog handling and training skills. This was his routine for at least a year. It could also be said this is when the life as a field trialer for Peter Goodale was established. He and Pepper excitedly received a green ribbon in their first derby field trial. We thought this sport was going to be easy, but how quickly reality burst our bubble. That is when Jumpin' Black Flash, our next dog, and David, our first child, were welcomed into our family. Flash was Peter's first FC/AFC dog and Peter's first experience to run in a national field trial.

After our daughter Julie was born, the children and I traveled with Peter for another four years to trials. It was a tremendous amount of work preparing to leave on Thursdays for trials, come home late Sundays to unpack, and doing it all over again for the following Thursday. Eventually, we could no longer take our son out of school when he reached the first grade. Peter was on his own. I remember Peter staying as late as he possibly could on a Thursday evening to watch David, a first grader, play in a baseball game. Peter was expected to be in Klamath Falls for a trial. I was the baseball coach's assistant. Peter asked me before he left for K Falls, if he too should be helping to coach our children's teams? Field trialing easily takes away from family time. I felt sorry for Peter and the decision he had to make. With a few adjustments, Peter remarkably managed to continue training dogs, field trialing, coach his children in sports, serve the Lord and be a wonderful provider, husband and father for his family all of these years. He continues to give unselfishly and wholeheartedly himself to the best of his ability.

Besides WVRC, Peter supported Klamath Falls and Medford clubs. That did not stop other clubs from asking him to help shoot, throw, marshal or whatever they needed at their trials. If help was needed, Peter could be counted on to contribute to his sport.

Peter has held many positions multiple times for club and nationals: president, field trial chairperson, gun captain, bird thrower chairman, marshal, and so on. He was chairperson for the National Amateur Trial in 1994 on Sauvie Island, OR. Considering this was prior to the internet, Peter and Regina Poer—a lifesaver—spoke to each other endlessly every evening on the phone for an entire year planning the national.

Between judging approximately 66 trials and attending nationals, Peter has traveled all over the US including the east coast, northeast, south, midwest, Alaska, west coast and the PNW. This includes judging the 2009 National Amateur Trial in Virginia, Minnesota.

I mentioned the joy training retrievers brings to Peter's life. It is also worthy to mention his tremendous fondness for the people he has trained with throughout these 47 years and the blessing of lifelong friendships.

OREGON

Danger! A Guide to the Local Training Hazards

Foxtails

They are very dangerous to your dog. Your dog can die from them if they get them in their nose and are not sneezed out or removed. These awns are barbed and can travel through dog from any entry point. They can cause an abscess if they penetrate the skin anywhere. Don't walk, air or train your dog in these!

Salmon

Salmon poisoning is a potentially fatal condition in dogs that eat raw salmon. June is salmon fishing season in Roseburg and surrounding areas. If your dog should eat raw salmon, get medical attention as soon as possible. Clinical signs appear within 6 days. They are: Vomiting, lack of appetite, fever, diarrhea, weakness, swollen lymph nodes, and dehydration. Untreated death usually occurs within 14 days. 90 percent of untreated dogs die.

Poison Oak

It's typically found in rocky or shallow soiled areas, shaded or sunny areas. It typically has vibrant red leaves in the early spring and late fall, but the leaves are a deep green all summer. The leaves are made up of three leaflets and this is the best way to identify it. As the saying goes, leaves of three, let them be.

Rattlesnakes

The Western Diamondback makes it home in California and Oregon. Generally not aggressive, rattlesnakes strike when threatened or deliberately provoked, but given room they will retreat. Startled rattlesnakes may not rattle before they strike defensively. Rattlesnakes can swim and may be around water areas. If you or your dog gets bitten, seek medical attention immediately as a bite from one of these guys can be potentially fatal. Be especially careful around rock outcropping, but they can be anywhere. When it gets hot, you may encounter them more in the morning and late evening and even at night when it cools off. Be careful wherever you train. Check out the area for all hazards, not just the ones above. Check for ditches, holes, buried implements or anything else

A Guide to Use of Training Grounds

We would thank all the landowners. The following guidelines list the important considerations for the use of the NRC training properties and the NRC test grounds. These are no way meant to cover every possible consideration. When in doubt, use common sense and courtesy. Remember, we are invited guests on these properties.

1. The properties listed in this training guide are all private grounds developed for their owners for the training of their dogs. We are their guests and should act accordingly.
2. The use of these grounds shall be coordinated though through the field committee. The property rotation will be done through Jerry Patopea (Northern) and Andy Kahn (Southern).
3. No one may contact property owners for individual or group use or access to these properties except through the field committee.
4. The regulations listed for each property are in addition to these general guidelines.
5. Unless instructed otherwise close and secure all gates.
6. If wet, keep all trucks on established gravel roads. Dirt road accessibility will be weather dependent. Access fields only with UTVs or 4-wheelers.
7. Be wary of livestock and neighbors. Never shoot in the direction of any visible residence or livestock.
8. Unless otherwise noted, smoking on any property is prohibited, except in a closed vehicle.
9. Remove all your trash, including spent shells, dead birds and any other trash you find. Do not leave food scraps or spilled dog food on the grounds. Some properties specifically prohibit feeding on the grounds.
10. Stay well-away from kennels and residences.
11. Dead birds must be double bagged and disposed of in approved trash containers. Additionally, there will be a location at Richard Cordell's property to be used for bird disposal.
12. By entering any of these properties you acknowledge the risks inherent in outdoor sports whether such risks are apparent or hidden. All participants accept those risks and agree that they alone are responsible for the health and safety for themselves and others in their group. Participants, by their use of the properties, acknowledge that they hold the property owners, NRC, it's officers and members harmless and free of any liability for any accidents, injuries or damage to their persons or vehicles. Entering any the properties is further subject to the participants' agreement to be held fully responsible for any damage, accidental or otherwise, to the property and any animals, facilities, buildings or equipment located on the property.

Enjoy these wonderful properties. But, please, be courteous to the landowners and their neighbors.
